WELCOME TO VIV ASIA 2025!

We are delighted to welcome you back to Bangkok for the 17th edition of VIV Asia, the premier trade show for the animal protein production and processing industry. As global demand for sustainable and efficient food production grows, this year's event serves as a vital and crucial platform for innovation, collaboration, and business growth.

With more than 1,300 exhibitors, VIV Asia 2025 brings together industry leaders, emerging players, and cutting-edge solutions across the entire feed-to-food supply chain. Whether you're seeking the latest advancements, exploring new partnerships, or gaining insights into market trends specifically within the poultry, swine, aquatic, and dairy sectors, we believe this is simply the place to be.

We are also proud to continue our co-location with Meat Pro Asia and excited to announce the launch of another co-location with Horti Agri Next (HAN) Asia. These collaborations continue to cater to the meat processing and food packaging industry and at the same time expand our focus to horticultural food production, landscaping, controlled environment practices, environmental conservation, and agriculture—providing a truly comprehensive industry showcase now covering the seed-to-food value chain under one roof.

With our dedication to the market and our stakeholders, VIV Asia has grown into new halls to accommodate the CropTech and FeedTech sectors. Our conference program will feature over 150 expert-led sessions, covering the latest developments and best practices in animal disease management, biosecurity, and regenerative and sustainable agriculture. There are plenty of opportunities for you to build more knowledge, collaborate, and network among your peers and fellow industry professionals.

We hope that you make the most out of everything VIV Asia 2025 has to offer!

VIV ASIA 2025 IS BACK WITH ITS BIGGEST EDITION YET

WELCOME TO BANGKOK!

VIV Asia 2025 is set to take place in the vibrant city of Bangkok, Thailand, a dynamic hub for international business, trade, and innovation in the Asia-Pacific region. This edition of VIV Asia 2025 promises to be bigger and better, featuring an expanded exhibition space, cutting-edge innovations, and a more diverse lineup of exhibitors and speakers. With a strong focus on sustainability, automation, and future-forward solutions, attendees can expect unparalleled opportunities to explore the latest trends shaping the industry. Enhanced networking events, specialized conferences, and interactive workshops will provide deeper insights and stronger collaborations, reinforcing Bangkok's role as the premier business hub for the global livestock and feed industry.

WHY BANGKOK?

As a global gateway, Bangkok boasts world-class infrastructure, state-of-the-art convention centers, and excellent connectivity, making it an ideal destination for professionals in the animal protein production and agribusiness sectors. The city's unique blend of modern skyscrapers, bustling markets, and rich cultural heritage ensures an inspiring backdrop for networking, deal-making, and knowledge sharing.

CO-LOCATED WITH HAN ASIA

A spotlight on regenerative agriculture, showcasing technologies for both horticulture and crop farming, connecting agriculture with the livestock sector.

CO-LOCATED WITH MEAT PRO ASIA

Cutting-edge solutions in food engineering, meat cutting, cold chain logistics, and packaging to streamline food production.

WHAT TO EXPECT AT VIV ASIA 2025

Sold Out Exhibition Space

VIV Asia 2025 is bigger and better than ever with up to 1,500 exhibitors bringing the latest breakthroughs in animal farming, meat processing, and agrifood innovations. From cutting-edge equipment to innovative feed solutions, this is your chance to explore the future of the industry—on a whopping 75,000 sqm (gross) of show floor and all under one roof!

High-level Seminars and Conferences

Gain valuable insights from over 150 expert-led sessions featuring 300 industry pioneers! VIV Asia 2025 brings you in-depth discussions on the latest trends and breakthroughs, tailored to poultry, swine, dairy, and aquatic farming. Whether you're seeking species-specific strategies or big-picture innovations, these sessions are a must-attend for staying ahead in the industry.

A Deeper Value Chain Represented

The three co-location shows: VIV Asia, Meat Pro Asia, and Horti Agri Next Asia, cover the entire seed to feed to food value chain, making it the most comprehensive global trade show in the region dedicated to animal farming, meat processing, and agrifood innovations.

Species-Specific Insights, Disease Management, and Sustainable Agriculture Take Center Stage

This year's program emphasizes a species-specific approach, addressing poultry, swine, aquatic, and dairy sectors, alongside pivotal themes such as disease management, biosecurity, and regenerative agriculture.

VIV SQUARE, FOOD TECH TRANSITION SQUARE

Here are some VIV Square and Food Tech Transition Square events to note:

Building Resilient and Sustainable Food Systems in APAC: Opportunities for collaboration in the agricultural value chain by The Asia and Pacific Seed Association (APSA)

Wednesday March 12, 14:30 - 15:15 | Food Tech Transition Square

Today's food systems must become more equitable and inclusive to address the multiple goals of food and nutrition security, economic growth, and climate action.

Seed comes first in the agricultural value chain. It is the basis of food, feed, fuel, fiber, and forests. By making the best quality seeds of innovative and locally adapted varieties accessible to all, the seed sector works with farmers, food processing, retail, and other actors in the food value chain. In this panel session, we will gather business representatives from seed to food to discuss potential synergies towards promoting resilient and sustainable agriculture.
